Shoots Wife, Then Turns Gun on Himself

The wife of Philip Hart was found lying dead in her garden near Burnis on Tuesday evening, with a bullet hole in her body, while her husband was found lying a short distance away suffering from a self-inflicted wound across the forehead. The police were immediately notified, and together with Coroner F. M. Pinkney, were soon on the scene. Hart was placed under arrest by Const. Stuchbery, of the Bellevue detachment, of the R.C.W.M.P., and taken to Bellevue, where his wounds were dressed at the hospital and he was afterwards placed in the barracks cell. The body of the woman was moved to the house, where an autopsy was conducted by Dr. Mackenzie, of Bellevue. An inquest was held on Wednesday before Coroner Pinkney, and the prisoner was remanded to come up for preliminary trial on Tuesday next.

The first witness called was Dr. Mackenzie, who viewed the body about 10 o'clock. On examination he found a small wound about six inches from the right side of the spine, between the ninth and tenth rib, quarter of an inch long. Further examination exposed a second wound in front of the left shoulder. The line of direction between the two wounds passed across the middle of the breast bone, cutting off a valve of the heart, causing blood to flow freely. From the wounds it would appear that the bullet went into the stomach and out at the shoulder. Death was undoubtedly instantaneous. There was no other evidence of violence, and he could not tell how far the woman may have been from the gun.

The second witness called was Mrs. Minnie Hart, who had been staying at the Hart ranch for some months. She was an eye-witness to the tragedy. She stated that Hart had been to Bellevue that day, and returned home about 3 o'clock. He entered the house and went to his desk to get a letter that he had forgotten to mail. Finding that it had disappeared, he asked his wife what had become of it, when she indignantly told him that she had taken it and would not give it up.

A great deal of quibbling ensued, in which all were engaged. Mrs. Hart sent her daughter for the police, while she both went to a neighbor for assistance. Going through a potato patch, about 200 yards from the house, we stopped to talk to the hired man. While standing, Mr. Hart came out of the house with a .303 rifle in his hand, and running towards them, demanded Mrs. Hart to go back to the house with him and deliver up the letter. He pointed the gun at Mrs. Hart, it being by his hip. As she told him that she was not afraid of him, in a sarcastic manner, he remarked "You are not!" and she went off. Mrs. Hart fell, I covered my face with my hands and shouted "Oh, don't! Oh, don't!"

Ambrose Oliver (a Breed) who had been employed at the ranch for some time, said that Hart was apparently sober when he returned from Bellevue. The first he knew of the row was when he saw the little girl going out on saddle-horse. In a little while Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Sargent came down in the potato patch, where he was digging. He then saw Hart and coming out of the house. He went up to within three yards of Mrs. Hart and made a rush to help her, when Hart said "Stop, or you'll be sorry for it." He then saw Hart put the gun to his shoulder, and saw Mrs. Hart fall on the ground. He afterwards saw Hart go back towards the house, into the bushes, and then heard another shot. He often heard Hart say that he would shoot her first, and then shoot himself.

Const. R. C. Stuchbery stated that he received a telephone message from Burnis, and on instructions from Sgt. May proceeded to the Hart ranch and arrested Hart for the murder of his wife. He brought Hart to Bellevue. Hart never said a word to him about the affair.

After the evidence had been taken, Coroner Pinkney instructed the jury, who retired and shortly afterwards returned with a verdict to the effect that Alice Hart came to her death on the Hart ranch on the evening of Tuesday, October 12 by gun-shot wounds from a rifle in the hands of her husband, Philip Hart.

The following gentlemen composed the jury: John Kerr, William Lloyd Evans, Arthur Goodwin, Anthony Wainman, Martin Joseph Sheehan and James Carlson.

Hart was taken down to Macleod and will be brought back to Bellevue on Tuesday next, where the preliminary trial will take place at 10 o'clock. W. M. Campbell, K.C., of Macleod, will appear for the Crown, and I. H. Putnam, of Blairmore, will defend the accused.

The funeral of Mrs. Hart took place at Blairmore on Thursday afternoon, Rev. F. T. Cook of Bellevue, officiating. Among those who attended were Mrs. Sargent, Vera Hart, L. H. Putnam, Mrs. Joseph Stuchbery, digging. He then saw Hart and Joseph Harrington.

How War affects Young Canadians

Capt. Pequegnat Says Experience Makes Them More Brave

Because he was with the 1st Field Ambulance at the time the first Canadian expeditionary force was sent to France, Capt. Pequegnat, who is now a private in the 1st Field Ambulance, has a lot to say about the war. He says that the war has made him a more brave man, and that he is now a more confident man. He says that the war has made him a more confident man, and that he is now a more confident man. He says that the war has made him a more confident man, and that he is now a more confident man.

Vast Sum Spent by Russians

Rapid Growth of the Red Cross Since War Began

It is not too much to say that the official recognition of the Red Cross by the Russian government is a great step forward. The Russian government has recognized the Red Cross as the official organization for the relief of the war victims. This recognition is a great step forward, and it is a great step forward. It is a great step forward, and it is a great step forward.

Vacant Lot Gardens

Excellent Results Secured, but Precautions Against Weeds is Required

Reports from various cities and towns in Canada, as to the cultivation of vacant lots into gardens, indicate that the campaign inaugurated last spring for securing vacant lots into gardens, is a success. Several cities have had the advantage of problem in a systematic manner, and have secured results commensurate with the amount of energy expended, by allowing interest to lag. In some cases, the results have been excellent, and in some cases, the results have been poor. It is a success, and it is a success.

French Praises Cavalry

Of the Dominion

Desiring They Played Notable Parts in Great Battle. "He is a great fighter. I have known him since the South African wars." This is a Canadian cavalryman's opinion of the French cavalry. The French cavalry is a very fine body of men, and they are a very fine body of men. They are a very fine body of men, and they are a very fine body of men.

Bulgaria's Aid

Could Put Over 300,000 Soldiers in the Field

In refusing to join Germany and Austria to send millions of war troops to the Balkans, Bulgaria has shown a government that is not afraid of the war. Bulgaria has shown a government that is not afraid of the war, and it is a government that is not afraid of the war. It is a government that is not afraid of the war, and it is a government that is not afraid of the war.

Non-Agricultural Lands

Present Waste Land Should be Utilized for Growth of Timber

Optimists as we have been in this country, we have not been able to see any value in the waste lands of the country. We have not been able to see any value in the waste lands of the country, and we have not been able to see any value in the waste lands of the country. We have not been able to see any value in the waste lands of the country, and we have not been able to see any value in the waste lands of the country.

Feeding the Canadians

French Chamber Passes Bill Providing for Purchase of wheat and flour

The French chamber of deputies has passed a bill which provides for the purchase of wheat and flour for the Canadian people. This bill is a great step forward, and it is a great step forward. It is a great step forward, and it is a great step forward.

Supernitions in Serbia

Many Curious Customs Preserved in Serbian Villages

It is not surprising to learn that the Serbian people have many curious customs. These customs are very old, and they are very old. They are very old, and they are very old. They are very old, and they are very old.
